Suresh Pal has a PhD in agricultural economics from ICAR-Indian Agricultural Research Institute (New Delhi). Before joining ICAR-National Institute for Agricultural Economics and Policy Research in 2016, he was Member (Official), Commission for Agricultural Costs and Prices, and Head, Division of Agricultural Economics, ICAR-Indian Agricultural Research Institute (New Delhi). He has more than thirty years of experience and made significant contributions to the advancement of research and teaching in the area of agricultural development and policy. He has published extensively (books, working papers, journal articles) on different aspects of Indian agriculture and his publications are cited internationally. He has guided several doctoral and masters students, and some of them received prestigious awards for their research work. He was member of various committees of the Government, notably ICAR, Niti Ayog (formerly Planning Commission), Ministry of Environment and Forest, Department of Science and Technology, and National Bank for Agriculture and Rural Development. He was instrumental in designing and institutionalization of research planning and management reforms in the national agricultural research system and facilitated external reviews of ICAR and its institutes. He has also worked with international organizations like World Bank, Food and Agriculture Organization, Overseas Development Institute and CGIAR Centres for short-term assignments and collaborative programs. He has been associated with leading professional associations as member and office bearer, and received awards for his significant contributions like best journal article awards, Norman E Borlaug International Science Fellowship, Fellow of Indian Society of Agricultural Economics (Mumbai), and Fellow of the National Academy of Agricultural Sciences.
